Powhatan Man New Governor Of Ruritans

Charles P. Cella, of Powhatan County, was elected governor of The Appomattox District Ruritans at their annual convention Saturday at the Virginia Methodist Assembly Center at Blackstone.

In the afternoon session, Harold Singleton, president of Ruritan National, spoke to the delegates on the purposes of the Ruritan organization. The title of his talk was 'Who Pushed You?' He pointed out that the Ruritan Club was organized in 1928 and has been devoted to improving the rural community.

Senator Byrd Speaks

At the evening banquet, State Senator Harry F. Byrd, Jr., was the principal speaker. He praised the sound fiscal position of our state government and pointed out that this provides an excellent basis for the progress of Virginia in industrial development. At the same time he expressed concern with the mounting debt incurred by the national government. He said the federal government has run up a deficit of more than 23 billion dollars in the past three years, which is more than the tangible property value for the entire state of Virginia.

Byrd also emphasized that the central government should be controlled by the written constitution and not operated through the individual power of any one man or group of men.

Byrd also had high praise for the efforts of the people of Southside Virginia in maintaining a strong constitutional position in the face of wholesale integration which the federal government is attempting to ram down our throats. He added, 'It is popular today to say that integration is a moral issue and that the Virginia people are backward and foolish if they do not embrace integration with 'vigah.'

Rural Commission Elects Officers

Dr. S. R. Lawson has been elected chairman of the newly organized Rural Planning Commission of Appomattox county. Other officers are John Cole, vice chairman; with Mrs. Carrie Gilbert, secretary. Other members include M. B. Duling and Mrs. Ruby Clark, of Pamplin; R. C. Hubbard and C. T. Moses, Jr., of Appomattox; and Tom Davidson, of the Stonewall District.

10,000 Doses Vaccine Asked

Appomattox Lions Club has asked for 10,000 doses of Sabin Vaccine in preparation for SOS —Sabin on Sunday, December 8, one of three dates set for the mass polio immunization project being co-sponsored by the Lynchburg Academy of Medicine.

The vaccine will be distributed from the county canneries at Appomattox and Pamplin, and at the Oakville Elementary School.

Doctors are recommending that all individuals over six weeks of age receive the vaccines, even those persons who previously received the Salk vaccine injections.

A different Sabin vaccine will be given on each of the other dates, Dec. 8, Jan. 19, March 1, local physicians said to immunize against three types of polio. Each of the dates falls on a Sunday and the clinics will be open from noon until 5 p. m.

The oral vaccine will be administered on cubes of sugar. Local physicians say the vaccine is tasteless and the reason for giving it on sugar cubes is to assure that the full dose is received.

Young children can receive the Sabin Oral Polio vaccine in a teaspoon or in a paper cup. Young infants take the vaccine from a dropper, and older children and adults in a paper cup or absorbed in a sugar cube.

The Sabin vaccine may be the final answer to the fight against the dreaded disease, ardeomyelitis. The vaccine is easy to administer — no injection; it provides rapid action —in about one week, and it helps break the chain of transmission by stimulating intestinal resistance to future infection.

"The possibility of wiping out polio, local physicians say, "is closer than ever before. We have the tools. Now its up to the community to use them.

Oral vaccines are available against all three types of polio. All three of them were developed by Dr. Albert Sabin of the University of Cincinnati School of Medicine.

Wins Contract For Bocock-Isbell Stable

J. E. Sears, Inc of Appomattox was awarded a contract in the amount of $5,695 for the reconstruction of the Bocock-Isbell stable at the Appomattox Court House National Historical Park. Park Superintendent G. E. Steele said that work is expected to begin within the next two weeks, with 120 working days allowed for completion.

Steele said that this building when completed, will round out the Bocock-Isbell group of buildings as they existed in the historic village in 1865. As with the rest of the buildings in the village, it will be functional as well as a contribution to the historic scene.

This building is one of several currently under construction or expected to be under construction by June 30, 1964. All are a part of the National Park Service Mission 66 program under the Department of the Interior.

Trip To Paris First Prize In Club Contest

FHA Takes Steps To Meet Credit Needs Of Farmers

The Farmers Home Administration is taking all steps to meet the credit needs of farmers in Appomattox County hard hit by the severe drought this past summer and fall, Hunter P. Evans has just returned from a meeting of national, state and county Farmers Home Administration officials, held in Richmond, Virginia, where progress made to date in the agency's emergency loan program was reviewed.

Jack Frost, Washington national director of FHA's emergency loan office, assured the Virginia staff of the Farmers Home Administration that adequate funds are available, Hunter P. Evans noted.

Leland S. Finney, state director of the Farmers Home Administration with office in Richmond, told the group that every conceivable measure must be taken to act promptly on farmer's applications and pointed out that if necessary additional personnel will be transferred into the offices where the demand is extremely heavy. The demand for loans may run into the millions of dollars in the 76 Virginia counties desiganted for emergency loan assistance by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

Applications for loans may be made at the FHA county office at Farmville, located in the Watson Insurance Building on Main Street. Mr. Evans also has part-time office hours at Appomattox at the ASCS office on Tuesday mornings from 9:00 to 9:30 a.m.

Emergency loans are specifically designed to help those farmers, whose crops, livestock, feed and pasture have been affected by the drought, resume normal farming operations. The loans enable farmers to avoid selling off foundation livestock, machinery, and other capital assets needed to operate their farms.

Emergency loans bear 3 percent interest and may be used to pay for feed, seed, fuel, fertilizer, and other crop and livestock expenses.

To be eligible a farmer must be unable to obtain the necessary credit to continue his normal farming operations from other sources. He must also have suitable experience and reasonable prospects for success in the farming operations he plans to carry on with the loan.

Farmers who borrow are expected to repay their loans as soon as possible consistent with their repayment abilities. Loans are secured by liens on crops financed and on chattel property and by liens on real estate when necessary for adequate loan security.

Education Dept. Officials Tell Plans For Vocational Training

Plans are being formulated in Nottoway for a regional Southside Virginia vocational training program for out-of-school youths between 17 and 22. Appomattox is one of nine counties tentatively included in the plans.

Two State Department of Education officials, Cleve E. Loman, supervisor of the manpower training service of the State Education Dept., and George Sandvig, state director of vocational education, outlined the proposal Nov. 13 in Nottoway.

Loman said the vocational training would be open to area youth, 17-22, white and nonewhite, who are unemployed or who have dropped out of school. Final approval would come from the United States Department of Labor and the Department of Health Education and Welfare before the program could be launched.

Participants would be paid a minimum of $14 a week while engaged in the training. Rough estimates show that about 800 youths might be expected.

Subject areas would include auto mechanics, body and fender repair, clothing alteration, farm work, electrical skills, hospital aide, masonry, custodial work and shoe repair, he said.

The number of persons participating may depend on the amount and size of facilities available for use he added.

The pilot program would be operated six hours a day, five days a week for a continuous 12 month period, he said. Rough estimates for an operating budget range from $275,000 to $435,000.

The earliest possible date for beginning the instructional program would be from two to three months, he said.

Attractive Opportunity

"You can look at it this way. It would be an excellent opportunity to get a vocational school in this area," Loman told Nottoway Board of Supervisors.

For some students, a pre-vocational training remedial system would be established to impart basic skills related to occupational training, such as skills in using hand tools and basic skills of reading, mathematics, spelling and even writing, Loman said. Such a preliminary program would last six to 12 weeks.

Statistics show that many Negroes could probably qualify for the vocational training for out-of school unemployed.

Council Hears Elliott's Report; Will Host Firemen's Dinner

Mayor S. R. Lawson told Town Council Monday night that car taxes would remain $20. Council gave its approval.

Councilman Harry Pack spoke at length on proposed street limit changes and additions within the town limits. His report will be given in further detail to a Finance Committee meeting November 25. Councilmen plan to meet December 10 to draw up the 1964 budget.

Firemens Dinner

Richard Wingfield was appointed to make arrangements for the annual Firemen's Dinner in December. Councilmen underwrite costs of the dinner, and volunteer firemen and other town and county representatives attend.

Action on a motion to raise the sidewalks on a section of Main Street from the Farmers National Bank to a point just beyond Evans Barber Shop was postponed, pending a conference with the State highway department officials.

Building Permits

Two building permits were requested. One, to construct a brick veneer home by the W. B. Stanleys on Oakleigh Avenue, was granted. Another by John Rule, of Brookneal, to build a brick veneer home on Morton Lane was deferred pending further inquiry into the exact location of the lot.

Well Repaired

Mayor Lawson reported that $50 spent on repairs for one of the towns two wells has doubled its capacity.

Will Surface Ethel St.

Council voted to grade and surface treat Ethel Street. The surface treatment will extend to Elon Johnsons home and to property owned by Mrs. Hubert Godsey.

Bids Open For Road Project

The proposed construction of a new entrance road and parking area at Appomattox Court House National Historical Park was announced this week by Superintendent G. E. Steele.

Bids from interested contractors will be received until 3 p.m. December 4, 1963, at the office of the Superintendent.

This work consists of constructing a paved entrance road and parking area of approximately 5,300 square yards; 2,400 yards of concrete sidewalks; 3,600 lineal feet of concrete curb with related drainage and seeding.

The new road will be built off Route 24, about half-way between the Confederate cemetery and the present park entrance, Steele said. This project is a part of the National Park Service Mission 66 program (Department of the Interior)

Audrey Inge above left, was both a county and area blue ribbon winner in the Sears Home Management Contest. She placed second in the junior division among nine counties participating. Next to Audrey sits Frances Reeve, also a blue ribbon winner in county and area competition who placed third among 4-H members in the senior division. Julia Ann Guill's poster and record book, pictured next, won her a county blue ribbon and cash prize.

Furniture Store Closing Out

Robinsons Furniture Store on Main Street, Appomattox, is going out of business, and J. Albert Robinson, uncle of the owner, funeral director Richard D. Robinson, and manager of the store for the past six years plans to retire to Warrenton, Virginia.

J. Albert Robinson says he looks forward to enjoying Social Security payments. He's paid into the plan since its inception in 1937. The Robinson home has already been sold to his great-nephew, Richard Donald Robinson, also a mortician.

The J. Albert Robinsons have two children. A daughter, Mrs. Robert Wines lives in Warrenton, and their son, James Albert, Jr., lives in Springfield, Va. James A. Jr. is an engineer employed by the Naval Research Laboratory.

J. Albert Robinson and Mrs. Robinson enjoy gardening. He says they may build a new home in Warrenton. Tomatoes, peanuts— all kinds of vegetables plus colorful flower beds have made their home in Appomattox attractive to passersby.

Robinson says that quite a number of people have visited the store since the 'going out of business' signs were posted.
